Consul General Stowe Reports on Industrial Canditions.

War Has Had a Disastrous Effect on Commerce. But Great Progress Is Promised When Hostilities Cease. Importation of Foodstuffs From pr America-The Need of Machinery.

report from J. G. Stowe, United States conditions in South Africa. According to this authority, the Boer-British war has brought many industries practically to a standstill. Crops which promised well in the Transvaal and Orange Free State, were not harvested; the ports of the British colonies were closed to importations consigned to the Boer Republics and there was marked decrease in the principal articles of export. One of the features of the war, writes Consul General Stowe, is the demand made upon the United States for foodstuffs.

The report of Mr. Stowe follows:

"The total imports for army supplies are not included in above figures.

"The total imports from the United States to South Africa through the same ports were: 1898, $13.454,672.56; 1899, $13.454,6 afflicted in the three immediate past years was hailed with joy by the ferruer, and, while the agricultural resources of this country are limited on account of the aricity of the soil and the small amount of land tilled, owing to the lassitude of the occupants, still good crops were anticipated, and the indications were most satisfactory. With the advent of war came opposite conditions. The crops, particularly in the Boer states, were left to a large extent unharvested. War closed the points of the British colonies to importations for these states, entailing depression of business in states, entailing depression of business in general, both in Boer and English territory. The Uitlander refugees came to the British colonies for protection and a temporary home. Many were able to settle here and establish themselves until the end of the way and a very large number were of the war, and a very large number were of the war, and a very large number were cared for by British hospitality and charity, and in due course of time found employment in various vocations. These added materially to the trade of the colonies. The exports of gold, coal, copper, diamonds, and ostrich feathers—the principle articles of export—fell off materially in October, November, and December. "The only bright side to the picture, if bright side it may be called, is the necessity that the war has created for imports of foodsbuffs, etc. In these lines, not only the United States, but Australasia and the Argentine Republic have benefited; Australasia more particularly in frozen the Argentine Republic have beneficed; Australasia more particularly in frozen meats and butter, and the Argentine Republic in cereals, horses, and slaughter cattle on the hoof.

"In December, the duty was taken off of frozen meat and cattle and sheep for of trozen meat and cattle and sheep staughter, but at the present writing no decrease in price is apparent. Up to the latter part of December, Australia had furnished no less a quantity man 3,000 tons of corned beef, in this ranging in size tons of corned beef, in tins ranging in size from one pound to six pounds; and the War Office at that time had cleaned out the available stores of that particular commodity in Australia and had to go to the United States for another 1,000 tons pending the replenishment of stocks by Australian packers. For the supply of fresh meat, the War Office had contracted in South Africa; but, in order to maintain supplies and keep down prices, live cattle were ordered from the Argentine Republic. "New Zealand supplied large quantities of oats; but most of this was bought in "New Zealand supplied large quantities of oats; but most of this was bought in London, though no English-grown oats was sent to South Africa, as it is considered too 'tender' and 'will not stand the trooics.' Russian oats was chosen first, as it is hard and cap stand the journey through the tropics, and next comes the American. There were thousands of tons uthorities were:

"Preserved meats, 12,000,000 pounds; biscuits, 12,000,000 pounds; coffee, 400,000 pounds; tea, 200,000 pounds; sugar, 2,000,000 pounds; compressed vegetables, 800,000 pounds; salt, 400,000 pounds; tinned meat and vegetables cooked together, 2,630,000 pounds; condensed milk, 360,000 tins; jam, 1,450,000 pounds; rum, 80,000 gallons; whisky, 12,600 bottles; port, 32,000 bottles; lime juice, 40,000 pounds; alum, 80 tons; tobac-co, 40,009 pounds; carbolic-acid powder, 6,000 pounds; caloride of lime, 20 tons; candles, 80,000 pounds; hay, 25,000 tons; oats, 31,000 tons; disinfecting powder, 20 tons; bran, 3,000 tons.
"And these items are only a few of the many. From January 1 to the present writing the list of supplies furnished has not been issued, but one may imagine the enormous quantity needed. It is to be re-gretted that in the line of canned meats, he demand was so large that the United States packers were not in position to fill all orders that came to them. I am informed that over 4,000,000 pounds of tinned meats were shipped from the United States to England and there rebranded "Sham-rock" and shipped to this colony. It must, however, be borne in mind that a correct statement of imports cannot be presented in this report, for the reason that the great mass of the importations from all countries for the direct use and consumption of the imperial armies entered without payment of duties, and even without passing through the customs. It is understood that the large purchases of foodstuffs and naterials from the United States by Great Britain and sent out by the latter in transports to South Africa will be credited in the statistics of the United States as exorts to Great Britain.

"War has also delayed the inauguration and completion of public works and im-provements, thereby reducing some lines of mports and the employment of labor. The embargo at Delagoa Bay on foodstuffs for the Transvaal was practically taken off in January; but much time elapsed before orders for foodstuffs, even by cable, could arrive from over the sea, and it was a ques-tion if 'behind orders' of United States, producers did not become, and are not yet, a serious factor in the inability to obtain food quickly.

"It is wonderful, encompassed as were the Boers, that some suffering did not occur; but it was evident that they had doubtedly had accumulated large stocks of food, as well as of arms and ammunition.

Imports From the United States. "The average of imports from the United States has been maintained, even with the non-purchase of many lines of goods that went to swell the imports of 1898. When the war is over, an interim may be expected during which a state of uncertain ty will exist as to the 'modus operand!' of the British Government, either in the di-rect control of conquered territory or only quasi-control; but when all questions for the future guidance of affairs are settled when many of those who have left the country return, when the gold and dia-mond mines are again in full operation, yielding more largely than ever, and when the agricultural resources are better developed, the outlook will be bright, and the country will witness an advance in business never before experienced. There will be an impetus given to the importation of goods of all kinds, not only in order to restore stocks.

order to restore stocks to thier original quantities, but also by reason of the increase of capital.

"For that time, the manufacturers and producers of the United States should prepare, not by flooding the country with circulars and price lists, but by sending men,

The State Department is in receipt of a report from J. G. Stowe, United States on houses of the United States which have men here constantly and are subject only to the criticism that they perhaps represent too many lines of goods to do justice to all, or that they are unable, in justice to older clients, to represent similar to his authority, the Boer-British war has increase for 1899 over 1898 would largely augment the above figures.

"The United States has for only a few years had any considerable part in foreign trade outside of foodstuffs, and much of this has sought her and much has been obtained through the export commission houses which make it their business to seek such trade. Even with what may be called simply "scratching the surface," the results have been very satisfactory. That other nations are jealous is evidenced by their present activity in preevidenced by their present activity in preparing for the capture of trade in South evidenced by their present activity in preparing for the capture of trade in South Africa after the present war. Owing, I presume, to the increased price of coal at South African ports, to the inability to obtain coal supplies, and to the serious detention to which steamers are being subjected therein, the rates of freight from New York have been raised by $1.21 per ton on all classes of cargo from May 16—except oil and lumber, which have been raised by $4.99 per ton. The colony of Natal will take off the duty on flour, thereby relieving the people of some extent.

"It is a matter of much pride to Americans to note the advance the United States has made in the introduction abroad of products notable for their superior workmanship, efficiency, durability and strength without unnecessary weight. This may be seen in the line of agricultural implements, machinery of all kinds, and vehicles. There has recently been introduced Into South Africa what is known as advertising posters, in both paper and metal, and the superiority in woo kumarship of the American over the foreign poster, from even an art standpoint, is very pronounced.

"Speaking of the outcome of trade after the war is concluded, and assuming that the Transvaal will become a par of the

"In relation to the vehicle trade, of which the United States has the 'lion's share' which I venture to assert cannot be taken away without detriment to consumers and users, the following tells the truth:

"The intention credited to Canadian carriage and cart builders to contest the South African market with the United States for the supply of the lighter kinds of road vehicles, while commendatory of their enterprise and justifiable as common sharers with ourselves of the markets of the Empire, invokes the enquiry why British firms have hitherto suffered foreigners to cater for this special want. Our manufacturers apparently adhere to the old and heavy style of vehicle which finds a sale in this country, and altogether ignore the fact that a lighter kind is almost against that of the United States of $357,-735, and of Germany of $19,203. The American exports were thus nearly three times the volume of ours. As the American exports are of the lighter kind exclusively and well adapted for the market, this represents a ratio of demand for the two kinds of one to three. Aithough late in the day, a recognition of this fact may still retrieve the situation. Are our manufacturers so pressed with orders for their particular style of vehicles that the department of light wines.

apprehend, be suicidal to our business inrests.
"On the other hand, much pressure is bein favor of reciprocal trade with the mother country, and I note a recent action of the municipality of Pietersmaritzburg, the capital of Natal, to that end. The city coun-
